Woman: Do you see the purple? Mama has a purple fish. Ooh, so does Elanore.

Mother: [Speaking native language] Swing.

Elanore: Swing, swing, swing.

Mother: Swing.

Woman: Swing. It is swinging. Oh, they're gonna get --

Elanore: Swing, swing.

Woman: You are too funny, girl.

Mother: Yesterday, she played with toy cars, and she wants to get on and step on it. I said, "Let me sit here."

Elanore: [Speaking indistinctly]

Mother: Ela. Oh, oh, oh. Okay.

Elanore: Oh! Woman: [Laughs]

Mother: [Speaking native language]

Woman: Purple. I like the fish. We're gonna make a fish picture in a few minutes.

Mother: [Speaking native language]

Woman: Lift it up. Go fishing.

Elanore: Swing, swing. Swing, swing.

Woman: Swing, swing.

Mother: Yeah, swing.

Woman: Everybody's swinging. You gonna stand up and swing?

Elanore: Swing, swing.

Woman: That is a good idea.
